

Laboratories Accredited by CNAS for Testing of Masks, Gloves, Medical Protective Clothing and Other Personal Protective Equipment

Currently, the CNAS accreditation scopes for competence in testing masks, gloves, medical protective clothing and other personal protective equipment for the use of Epidemic prevention, cover both Chinese standards and some foreign standards such as those of EU and USA. To be highlighted, although there are differences between these standards, the main performance indicators of these standards are the same or similar. Therefore, the suitability of the standard shall be confirmed according to the purpose and requirements when choosing a testing laboratory and standard.

Tables 1 – 4 list the laboratories accredited by CNAS as competent to test masks, gloves, medical protective clothing and other personal protective equipment. For the detailed accredited testing scopes of the listed laboratories, please visit
